PRINT RELEASE

All digital images come with a print release file. This entitles you to print the images yourself. So you can have unlimited copies for all the family!

Leatherland Photography will not be responsible for any printing issues from third party printers,

It is strongly recommended that a professional printing lab is used to print the photos. A lot of time and work goes into making the images high quality and professional. Printing companies such as PhotoBox, free prints, Boots and Tesco's will result in lower quality images, with possible colour differences, graininess and blurriness. Our screens are calibrated to our professional printing labs, ensuring consistency with images. Digital images are also not intended to be blown up for large sized prints, wall art or photos. If you require this then please ask for images to be resized.
